The Campaign for the University of Oxford

Thank you for supporting the University of Oxford

'I have always imagined that Paradise will be a kind of library' Jorge Luis Borges

In June 2015, a group of Oxford's graduates and staff will be trekking to raise funds to support the university's mission of teaching and learning about China.

The University of Oxford China Centre is a new world-class hub for the study of China, with over 45 academics in Oxford focusing on China-related research and teaching in a wide variety of disciplines. At the heart of this enterprise is the Bodleian KB Chen China Centre Library, which provides a world-class library service for students and scholars of China. With a collection of over 45,000 volumes and a range of electronic resources, it is also a contemplative study space, playing a pivotal role in the life of the centre. Through their journey across the remote Yading Nature Reserve in China's Sichuan Province, the trekkers aim to raise funds to support acquisitions at the Library.

The University of Oxford China Centre

'The richness of Oxford's Chinese collection makes the Oxford China Centre an incredibly exciting place to study and conduct research. From cutting-edge social science to the study of the most ancient carvings, the library is central to our intellectual enterprise. Support for the collection will further enrich the Oxford China Centre and support our aspiration to be the western world's premier institution for the study of China.' Rana Mitter, Professor of the History and Politics of Modern China and Director of the Oxford China Centre

A current and comprehensive library collection is the lifeblood of good scholarship. Specialist publications like those in the Bodleian KB Chen China Centre Library are printed in limited quantities, so the Library must purchase important new works when they become available.

'The number of books published in China today is almost the same as of all the European countries put together. With a 400 year history of collecting Chinese books, the Bodleian today is the lifeline for a wide range of students and researchers from all over the world. Collecting the right material for current and future generations is crucial for the support of all aspects of Chinese Studies.' Joshua Seufert, HD Chung Chinese Studies Librarian

Thank you for supporting the trekkers and the China Centre Library. Your involvement will help forge a deeper understanding of China for years to come.

Further information

University of Oxford Development Trust Fund

Other than gifts for colleges, all gifts will be held in one of the specific broad-purpose funds within OUDT. The gifts will then be applied in accordance with the purposes of the relevant broad-purpose fund. Details of the broad-purpose funds and their purposes can be found at www.admin.ox.ac.uk/trusts/oudt. Wishes expressed on this form will not give rise to new trusts or other legally binding obligations. Every gift will contribute towards the Oxford Thinking Campaign (www.campaign.ox.ac.uk).

Data Protection

We want to ensure that we keep the details we hold about you up to date, and communicate with you fully in accordance with your wishes. Your data will continue to be used for the purposes of communication and marketing activities by post, email, telephone, fax or text message, unless you indicate otherwise. We use tools to monitor the effectiveness of our communications with you, including email tracking, which records when an email from us is opened and/or how many links are clicked within the message. The data from this tracking are generally used in an aggregated and anonymised form. If at any time your details change or you wish to add to or remove from the list of communications sent to you then please contact us.

Your data are held securely in the University's shared Development and Alumni Relations System (DARS), which helps ensure your details are up to date and improves our communications with you. The data may be used by colleges, faculties, departments, administrative units, international offices, recognised alumni societies, sports and other entities associated with the University, and agents contracted by the University in that capacity.

Full details on how your data are held and used are set out in our Data Protection Statement at www.campaign.ox.ac.uk/data\_protection or you can request a hard copy from our Database Team. Some sensitive personal data may be held in DARS. If at any time you have any queries about the use of your personal data in DARS or wish to change the fact of, or extent of, use of your personal data, please contact the Database Team, quoting your alumni card number (if you have one), at the address given below, email database@devoff.ox.ac.uk, or telephone +44 (0)1865 611600.
